AEROPLANES TUNED FOR WAR GAME

First of the Air Scouts Made 2,000 Foot Spiral Ascent in Trial Flight at Stratford

HYDRO-AEROPLANE FLYING FROM MARBLEHEAD

"Red" Army of Invasion Has Swept Down on New Haven—"Blue" Headquarters in the Hills to the Northwest—20,000 Troops to be Engaged—Rain of Friday Night Brought Relief From Dusty Roads.

Maneuver Headquarters, Stratford, Conn., Aug. 9.—Everything is in the final preparatory stage for the Connecticut maneuver campaign, which begins early tomorrow morning, when a state of war will be in existence hereabouts, theoretically and practically so far as 20,000 soldiers of all arms can make it. Brigadier General T. H. Bliss, commanding the department of the east and commander and chief umpire of the maneuvers, with his staff, came into camp during the afternoon and organization of the headquarters plan was completed.

War Footing by 6 P. M.

All the afternoon detachments of commanders who are hurrying to local points for mobilization were sending in reports either by wire or wireless. In every direction there was military activity. The "Red" army of invasion, in the name, has swept down on New Haven. Early tomorrow the streets of that city and other cities and towns in the state will resound with the tramp of infantry, the rumble of artillery and the clatter of horse hoofs, as regiments, batteries and troops detain and move out into the woods and fields to make their first bivouac. Then will come the orders for formation of provisional brigades, appointments to staffs of brigade commanders and assignments to the lesser units, such as are necessary to perfect the organization. As the brigades are completed the divisional commander will take charge and by six o'clock in the evening the two armies will be on a war footing.

Aviation Section Active.

The aviation section completed its arrangements for aerial scouting this evening and the two machines—one the new Curtiss type and the other a Burgess Wright—were ready for trial flight. Captain F. B. Hennessey, commanding the aviation section, kept the signal corps squad busy assembling the machines after they arrived on the field as he had received word that the trials of the new hydro-aeroplane had been successfully completed at Marblehead, Mass., during the day and orders had been issued for that machine to be brought here.

Watch For Arrival

Lieut. Kirkland and Arnold, who are at Marblehead, sent word that if the weather is favorable tomorrow they will try to fly from the place to the aviation field. The two officers, who are familiar with the country hereabouts, Captain Hennessey has arranged for flights of his machine, the Curtiss, and ground when Lieutenant Kirkland (correct) and Arnold are approaching. The machine of the First Signal Corps, New York National Guard, has also been ordered here and also will be used. The machines will rise and descend in order to direct the new hydro-aeroplane, if by day, light and the completion of the flight is after dark when calcium lights will be burned here. Should the weather be unfavorable tomorrow the flight will be made on Sunday. The aviators here who will make ascents are Captain Hennessey and Lieutenants Arnold, Kirkland, E. D. Foulton, Geiger and Miller.

The first flight in camp was made tonight by the Burgess-Wright machine with Lieutenant Miller in the pilot's seat. Conditions were excellent and he made a spiral ascent to 2,000 feet around the wireless aerial and then

He intends to proceed along the coast to Boulogne, then across the English channel, and to the Thames from his mouth to London.

SUFFRAGETTES DEFY BRITISH AUTHORITIES

Call Sentences on Irish Rieters an Outrage—Reserve the Right to Continue Warfare.

London, Aug. 9.—The Women's Social Political Union, the headquarters of the militant suffragette movement, issued a statement today regarding the sentences pronounced by the Dublin court on Wednesday on Mary Leigh, who was sent to jail for five years for wounding John Redmond, leader of the Irish parliamentary party, with a hatchet she had thrown at Premier Asquith; on Gladys Evans, who was also sentenced to five years imprisonment for setting fire to the Theatre Royal, Dublin, and on Lizzie Baker, who was given seven months imprisonment as an accomplice of Gladys Evans.

The union defies the authorities, calling the sentences an outrage which was not devised as a punishment to fit the offences, but to terrorize the women.

The judge's hint that the sentences would be remitted if the women's militant tactics were abandoned constituted, says the suffragettes, a challenge which could not be accepted without disloyalty to the cause. It continues: "Coercion may prove effective in dealing with the militant leaders and other rebels of the present day, but it will never subdue the members of the women's social and political union. While demanding the release of their comrades, the suffragettes will continue the use of militancy until the government abandons its present policy of trickery and evasion."

What To Do in the Dull Season

That old gag: "When is the best time to advertise?" and the sharp answer: "All of the time!" is just as good today as it was when it was first uttered; but the time to shout loudest for business is when business is not pressing—in other words, when business is not pressing, press business. The man who said "the greater part of human grief is caused by sitting down" was no joker. Bright days are the days to make the goods move, and stormy days the days to make the place shine and to put the place in order. Live merchants teach their clerks to have no dead time. It doesn't do to let business stagnate, any more than it does to let thought. There's always something to be done and pity it is that there is not always some one to do it! A good advertisement often moves slow goods from old shelves. It should be borne in mind that an advertisement is not a political platform for it only the promises should be made that can be kept. Bargains always look good to the buyer in a dull time and his ways look better coming over the counter than no profits. The dull day is the day to make the pen work and to send "silent salesmen" into consumer's homes, for the dull day is when people find most time to read. Send for a Bulletin rate card contract for a year's space and make it do the work of three salesmen without carriages or hotel bills in the account.

Nothing to Confess.

Becker Defiant Yet—Whitman Confident the Police Lieutenant Will Break Down.

New York, Aug. 9.—Although Police Lieutenant Charles Becker declared today that he had nothing to confess in connection with the Rosenthal murder of which he is the accused instigator, District Attorney Whitman declared that the police lieutenant was ready to make a confession that could corroborate the stories told by "Bald" Jack Rose, "Bridgie" Webber and Harry Valion, who has obtained a promise of leniency for turning state evidence.

Becker Was Making Money.

Fresh evidence obtained today by the district attorney included information that during last May, Becker, whose salary is only about $2,200, deposited $3,000 in a West Side Savings bank in the name of himself and his wife. Mr. Whitman also learned today that Jack Sullivan, the newsboy who has been deeply involved in the murder plot by several witnesses, was ready to make a confession that could corroborate the stories told by "Bald" Jack Rose, "Bridgie" Webber and Harry Valion, who has obtained a promise of leniency for turning state evidence.

Witness Against Jack Sullivan.

It became known also today that Giovanni Stanich, one of the sixteen witnesses who appeared before the grand jury yesterday, had an eye witness to the murder identified the four East Side thugs accused of the actual shooting of Rosenthal, and had also identified Jack Sullivan as having been on the scene at the time and left with the murderers in the gray automobile.

Went to Pollock's Home.

In addition to this the district attorney has learned from Richard O. Barter, a notary public, that on the day after the murder, Becker took his attorney, John W. Hart, in a taxicab to the house where Jack Rose, then wanted by the police for the murder, was in concealment. This was the house of Harry Pollock, who was one of the witnesses before the grand jury.

While the greatest monetary loss was caused by the Wilson House fire in North Adams, which started at the Wilson house, several other houses were also burned with a total loss of $500,000, the most spectacular of the fires was in Waterbury, Conn. Murray, according to Chief of Police, had started the fire which destroyed the city hall as well as threatening the Chelsea hotel, and to setting a dozen other blazes the same night, April 21. Waterbury was in a state of terror because of the fire. The militia was ordered out and patrolled the vicinity of city hall and other burning buildings for several hours. The total fire damage in Waterbury that night has been estimated at $300,000.

Many lives were endangered in the Wilson house fire and several persons had narrow escapes. Murray says that he first started a blaze in the basement of the hotel, then ran to another room and started another, returning to assist in quenching the first fire. Both fires got beyond control and the hotel was wrapped in flames, while Murray says his assistants saving what he could of the hotel furniture.

CONFESSIONS TO LONG HEAD

Greenfield, Mass., Aug. 9.—Declaring that he had set thirty fires in hotels and public buildings in Connecticut and western Massachusetts, within the past four months, Bernard C. Murray, son of a former fire commissioner of Hartford, Conn., made an alleged confession to Chief of Police Thomas Manning tonight.

Where He Operated.

April 19, Waterbury, Conn. City hall and Chelsea hotel.

May 22, Greenfield, Mass. Taylor block and Hollister house.

June 1, Turners Falls, Mass. Grand Trunk hotel and Allen block.

June 8, Greenfield, Mass. Central house.

June 22, Turners Falls, Mass. hotel and Bartlett block.

July 2, North Adams, Mass. Wilson house.

July 5, and within a few days after that, 18 fires in and about Springfield, Mass. Murray, who is 24 years old, said in explanation of the acts to which he confessed:

"I could not resist an impulse to do it, although I realized the consequences."

Hotel Guests in Peril.

The lives of hundreds of persons, hotel guests, were placed in jeopardy by the fires which Murray declares he started, and the total property loss is estimated by local officials at about $1,000,000.

In most cases his confession includes the setting of two fires at the same time.

Corroborative Evidence.

According to Chief Manning, he has received within the past two days independent information placing Murray in the vicinity of the scenes of the more important fires at the time they were started.

Murray was an employee of hotels and traveled considerably, changing his place of occupation frequently. His confession, which was made at the Franklin county jail here, developed from his arrest on a charge of larceny of a gold watch and $50 on July 13 from a guest at a hotel here. He is now serving a sentence of thirty days on this charge, to which he has confessed.

Identified by Several.

Descriptions of him published in connection with this affair led several persons who were interested in property destroyed by fires, to identify him as the man they thought responsible. Within the past few days Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Russell of Waterbury, and several other persons have told the police that they believed Murray was in Waterbury at the time of the fires there.

How He Worked.

Murray confessed today. He explained that he "liked to see things burn." "I just had to do it," he added. Murray said that he would go to the second or third floor of a hotel, open a closet and place a small fire in it, so that it might be inside, such as a mop, dust rag, broom or bed linen. After closing the door he would escape from the building and generally go to another hotel. He would then go to the street or nearby, and do the same thing there, so that two fires might be burning at the same time.

After setting fire to the Wilson house in North Adams, Murray said, he ran out of the building and started another blaze from which he returned to the Wilson house. Then he set to work with other men and started to remove furniture and other contents of the hotel.
